VOL. XLIII., No. 11.

NEW YORK, March 18, 1893.

WHOLE No. 1103

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

Three Roads to a Commission in the U. S. Army.

By Lieutenant W. P. BURNHAM, Sixth U. S. Infantry, author of "Manual of Outpost Duty," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

This handbook has been prepared with a view to providing popular information concerning the manner of entering the United States Military Academy and the course to be pursued for obtaining a commission. The rules governing the various examinations are taken from official sources, and the author has taken pains to embody the substance of the latest legislation affecting his subject.

Manual of Guard Duty,

FOR THE UNITED STATES ARMY, as approved by the Secretary of War, January, 1893. Paper, 25 cents; leather, 50 cents.

New Edition of Maartens' "Joost Avelingh."

Joost Avelingh.

By MAARTEN MAARTENS. New edition, uniform with "God's Fool," by the same author. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The increasing demand for Maarten Maartens' two novels has led the publishers to prepare this edition of "Joost Avelingh" for the convenience of those who prefer a uniform binding.

"A book by a man who, in addition to mere talent, has in him a vein of genuine genius."—London Academy.

"In scarcely any of the sensational novels of the day will the reader find more nature or more human nature."—London Standard.

General Jackson.

By JAMES PARTON. The third volume in the Great Commanders Series, edited by Gen. James Grant Wilson.

With portrait and maps. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.50.

The last literary work of James Parton, completed just before his death, was the preparation of this volume. It is a model miniature biography, possessing throughout all the interest of a romance.

A Little Minx.

By ADA CAMBRIDGE, author of "The Three Miss Kings," "Not All in Vain," etc. No. 114, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

"The story of 'The Three Miss Kings' is told with great brilliancy, the character and society sketching is very charming, while delightful incidents and happy surprises abound. It is a triple love-story, pure in tone and of very high literary merit."—Chicago Herald.

"A better story than 'Not All in Vain' has not been published in many moons."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Atlas of Astronomy.

By SIR ROBERT S. BALL, F.R.S., Professor of Astronomy and Geometry at the University of Cambridge; author of "Starland," "The Cause of an Ice Age," etc. With 72 plates, explanatory text and complete index. Small 4to, cloth, $4.00.

New Revised Edition of Lecky's England and Ireland.

A History of England in the Eighteenth Century.

By WILLIAM E. H. LECKY. Cabinet Edition. 7 vols., 12mo, cloth, $7.00.

A History of Ireland in the Eighteenth Century.

By WILLIAM E. H. LECKY. Cabinet Edition. 5 vols., 12mo, cloth, $5.00.

The "History of Ireland" was formerly included in the eight-volume edition of the "History of England." By a rearrangement of the contents the two histories now appear separately as above, each complete in itself, but bound uniformly. Important revisions have been made, and the work is in some respects practically new.

The well-known high character of this standard history needs no fresh commendation.

NOTES IN SEASON.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will issue next week "Methods of Teaching Modern Languages." This book consists of a collection of papers by leading educators on the value and on methods of instruction.

THE WAVERLY Co. have just issued in their World Library a new novel by Paul Bourget, entitled "The Son" ("André Cornélis"). It is attractively bound in paper covers, imitating cloth. Bourget's other novels, "Cosmopolis," "The Disciple," "The Promised Land," etc., are also to be had in this series.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published "The History and Theory of Money," a series of twelve lectures in finance, with syllabus and attendant discussions, by Sidney Sherwood, Wharton School of Finance and Economy, University of Pennsylvania; and a new story by Rosa Nouchette Carey, entitled "But Men Must Work."

GINN & Co. have in press an essay on "Die Erhebung Europa's gegen Napoleon I.," by H. von Sybel, with introduction and notes adapting it for use in schools, by A. B. Nichols, of Harvard; also, "A Practical Course in English Composition," by Alphonso G. Newcomer, assistant professor of English in the Leland Stanford University, adapted for use in high schools and colleges.

BANGS & Co. call the attention of the trade to the sale by them of an important consignment of English remainders from Grant, of Edinburgh. The sale takes place on March 30. On April 16 and the following days they will dispose of a desirable portion of the stock of Mitchell's, 830 Broadway, which includes, besides many rare books, a fine selection of autographs, prints, etc. They will also sell, on March 23 and 24, the medical library of Dr. Morris H. Henry; and, on April 3 and 4, books from the collection of Chas. W. Frederickson, comprising works relating to drama, Shakespeariana, poetry, etc.

MACMILLAN & Co. have just ready: "National Life and Character: a forecast," by Charles H. Pearson, dealing with racial characteristics and the dangers and possibilities of political and national development; a second revised and cheaper edition of Prof. Skeats' "Etymological Dictionary of the English Language;" and Henry James' new volume of stories and sketches, which is entitled "The Real Thing." They are bringing out a new and cheaper edition of the Eversley Edition of Charles Kingsley's novels, to be published monthly. Of these "Westward Ho!" is just ready, in two volumes.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "White Birches," an American novel, by Annie Eliot; "Katherine North," a new story, by Maria Louise Pool; "Coffee and Repartee," a series of humorous sketches, by John Kendrick Bangs; and new editions of William Black's "White Wings," "Sunrise" and "That Beautiful Wretch." They have also just added to their Black and White Series "Giles Corey, Yeoman," a play founded upon incidents of the Salem witchcraft delusion, by Mary E. Wilkins, whose new story, "Betsey Somerset," will soon appear in Harper's Bazar; and "The Japanese Bride," by Naomi Tamura, a native of Japan.

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have nearly ready "The Independent Treasury System of the United States," by Prof. David Kinley, of the University of Wisconsin. This volume is the first one in the Library of Economics and Politics, edited by Prof. Richard T. Ely, and will be a timely contribution to a subject of the greatest interest at the present time. Another important volume that Messrs. Crowell & Co. have nearly ready is "Philanthropy and Social Progress," seven essays delivered before the School of Applied Ethics, at Plymouth, Mass., by Miss Jane Adams, Father J. O. S. Huntington, Robert A. Woods, Prof. Franklin A. Giddings and Bernard Bosanquet, with an introduction by Prof. H. C. Adams, of Cornell University.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. 4to; under 30 cm.; O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Alger, Horatio, jr. Facing the world; or, the haps and mishaps of Harry Vane. Phil., Porter & Coates, [1893.] c. 2+318 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

When Harry Vane's father died he left him in the guardianship of a certain John Fox, of Cobbrook, but after the lad arrived in that town a brief experience with his guardian led him to decide that "facing the world" would be preferable to living with Fox. His adventures after that make up an exciting and interesting story of land and sea.

Allen, Ja. Lane. John Gray: a Kentucky tale of the olden time. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. 218 p. por. D. cl., $1.

John Gray was a schoolmaster in Kentucky one hundred years ago. Disappointed in the girl whom he hoped to marry, he left Lexington and returned to his old home in Mount Vernon. At a most critical time he met George Washington, and from the life and character of the president of the United States he learned to live again. Mrs. Falconer, a lady who had followed her husband to Kentucky, a strong, noble woman, has great influence with John Gray, and her interest in him through her long, useful life is admirably and pathetically told.

Ashby, H.; M.D., Wright, G. A., and Northrup, W. Parry. Diseases of children, medical and surgical. 2d ed. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1893. 22+771 p. 8°, cl., $5.

Bangs, J. Kendrick. Coffee and repartee. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. 4+123 p. il. T. (Harper's black and white ser.) cl., 50 c.

The scene of this witty series of dialogues was the breakfast-table of Mrs. Smither's high-class boarding-house for gentlemen; the characters were the boarders, variously designated by the author as the "Schoolmaster," the "Idiot," the "Minister," the "Bibliomaniac" and the "Doctor." The conversation dwells on many topics, "repartee," in which the "Idiot" carries off the honors, being a strong point with the boarders. The amusing text and equally amusing pictures first appeared on the back page of Harper's Bazar.

Baker, J. G. Handbook of the irideæ. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 12+232 p. 8°, cl., $1.75.

Bourget, Paul. Cosmopolis: a novel; from the French, by Cleveland Moffett. N. Y., The Waverly Co., [1893.] 341 p. D. (World lib., no. 22.) pap., 50 c.

See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., February 18, 1893, [1099.] This translation of "Cosmopolis" first ran through the New York Herald.

Bourget, Paul. The son, (André Cornélis.) N. Y., The Waverly Co., [1893.] c. 311 p. D. (World lib., no. 21.) pap., 50 c.

When André Cornélis was nine years old his father was murdered. Very shortly after his mother married again. A bundle of letters written by his father to his aunt, after sixteen years, makes André suspicious of his stepfather. He finds the man "had loved his mother madly enough to purchase her at the cost of the murder of his most intimate friend." The end is tragic and a subtle study in psychology. By the author of "Cosmopolis."

- in nature. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 15+349 p. 12°, cl., $2.
- Cambridge, Mrs. Ada, [pseud. for Mrs. Cross.] A little minx: a sketch. N. Y., Appleton, 1893. c. 2+274 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 114.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
The author of "The three Miss Kings" tells another charming story of Australia. It is a single character study, sketched with power and delicacy; the "little minx" is the young wife of Jack Primrose who comes out from England to the Colonies to be curate to Archdeacon Brown. Jack has delicate lungs and Nancy is soon a widow having in the meantime excited the animosity of all the women and won the admiration of all the men through her beauty and vivacity. Her life has many other dramatic events after Jack dies, and a most unexpected ending.
- Carey, Rosa Nouchette. But men must work. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. c. '92. 2-197 p. D. (Lippincott's ser. of select novels, no. 143.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
The story is related by Miss Osborne, a middle-aged governess, who is engaged to give lessons to a young lady curiously backward in ordinary studies, who lives with her mother and sister in a retired corner of a little village not far from London. That there is a mystery in the Hillyard family soon becomes evident to Miss Osborne, and also that this mystery is breaking the hearts of her pupil and her sister, and depriving them of their lovers; this secret the story very cleverly unravels.
- Caro, Mme. E. Bitter fruits. Chic., F. T. Neely, [1893.] c. '92. 4-272 p. il. D. (Neely's ser., v. 1. double no. 15.) cl., $1; pap., 25 c.
Paris and Versailles are the background of a sensational story of divorce and unhappy love. Lenore and Paul, the devoted children of divorced parents, have a very sad life, which ends in dissipation for the man and suicide for the woman.
- *Chapman, J. Wilbur, D.D. The ivory palaces of the king. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell Co., 1893. 75 p. 16°, cl., 50 c.
- Claretie, Jules. Hatred, and other French stories. Chic., F. T. Neely, [1893.] 4-313 p. D. (Neely's lib. of choice literature, v. 1, no. 13.) cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c.
Contents: Hatred, by Jules Claretie; The devil, by Guy de Maupassant; A young lady to marry, by Aurélien Scholl; The subject of a drama, by François Coppée; Perdition, by Gustave Guesviller; An audacious proposal, by Leon Noir; The rival prima donnas, by Jeanne Mairé; The little Russian servant, by Henri Gréville; A hypnotized cat, by Anatole France.
- *Conder, C. R., ed. The Tell Amarna tablets; tr. by C. R. Conder. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 10+208 p. 12°, cl., $1.75.
- *Cope, E. J., ed. Our own birds: a familiar natural history of the birds of the United States. New ed., with new il. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. 12°, cl., $1.25.
- *Cornely, Eugen. Die Weltausstellung ("the World's Columbian Exposition") in Chicago, 1893; von deutschen Häfen über New York nach Chicago zur Weltausstellung, 1893. Chic., Koelling & Klappenbach, 1893. 125 p. il. 18°, pap., 85 c.
- *Craig, A. S. Organization and management of private corporations; with notes on corporation book-keeping. Chic., Koelling & Klappenbach, 1892. 128 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.
- *Crawford, F. Marion. A Roman singer. [New cheaper ed.] N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 354 p. 12°, cl., $1.
- Crompton, Frances E. The gentle heritage. N. Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1893. c. 3-188 p. il. D. cl., 75 c.
Patricia, Helen, Annis, Bobby and Paul, while in search of a real "Bogy" find their way through a Hawthorne hedge into a quaint old garden, where they imagine this personage exists. The search ends with a gratifying adventure, and is the final cause of an invitation to tea being extended to the entire party. During this tea "Bogy" tells the children how to obtain and keep the "gentle heritage." Their quaint way of interpreting his beautiful conception is described in a story with a moral.
- Crothers, S. McChord. Members of one body: six sermons. Bost., G. H. Ellis, 1892 [1893.] c. '92. 132 p. D. cl., 75 c.; pap., 50 c.
Preached at Unity Church, St. Paul, Minnesota; they aim to interpret sympathetically the creeds of other churches outside of the congregation to which they were delivered, and are named "Roman Catholicism," "Calvinism," "Methodism," "Rationalism," "Mysticism" and "The unity of Christendom."
- *Crozier, J. Peattie. Civilization and progress. 3d ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1893. 31+464 p. 8°, cl., $4.50.
- Diehl, Mrs. A. M. Dr. Paull's theory: a romance. N. Y., Appleton, 1893. c. 276 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 112.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
Dr. Hugh Paull when house surgeon in a great London hospital is called to the accident ward and finds the wounded man is the titled head of a large city banking-house. Friendship follows between the doctor and his patient, a pessimistic woman-hater. Dr. Paull marries a peculiar character who is constantly probing and exhibiting her love for him. She is fiercely jealous and exacts upon her death-bed a promise that he will shoot himself. He is saved and the great romance of his life follows. His theory relates to souls and their powers in this world and the next, in which he looks for the solution of all problems.
- *Edwards, Jos. Differential calculus for beginners. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 10+262 p. 16°, cl., $1.10.
- Elliot, Annie. White birches: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. 3+356 p. D. cl., $1.25.
A love-story whose actors are an artist and a country girl, which had its beginning at a country resort in an acquaintance made accidentally over a sprained ankle. The scene changes from the country to the city and many clever episodes illustrate the hero and heroine's characters and the progress of their story. American in scene and characters.
- Emily Milman: the little sunbeam of the farm-house. [New ed.] N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1893. 5-244 p. il. D. cl., 60 c.
- Fawcett, Edgar. Loaded dice: a novel. N. Y., Tait, Sons & Co., [1893.] c. '91. 2-288 p. D. cl., $1.25.
Three Americans (two men and a woman), a French sharper, and an innocent young English girl are the actors in a highly sensational drama which takes place in Paris. The central figure is a beautiful American woman with a past, who has been the mistress of one of the men and wishes to marry his rich friend, but is balked in her plans by the "sharper," of whom she had hoped to make a tool as easily as she had won his love. The English girl is caught in the net for a while, but escapes with the aid of one of the Americans. The ending is tragical, justice being done swiftly and surely.
- *Federal reporter, v. 52; cases argued and determined in the circuit courts of appeals and circuit and district courts of the U. S. Permanent ed. Nov., 1892-Jan., 1893. A table of statutes cited and construed is given in the index. St. Paul, West Pub. Co., 1893. c. 30+1054 p. O. (National reporter system, U. S. ser.) shp., $5.
- Fields, Mrs. Ja. T. Whittier: notes of his life and of his friendships. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. 4+103 p. pors. il. T. (Harper's black and white ser.) cl., 50 c.
Short, unconnected bits of interesting reminiscence of long years of personal friendship between Mr. Whittier and the wife of his friend and publisher. The loveliness of Whittier's character, his high thinking, plain living and unremitting work in the cause of freedom are once more brought before Mrs. Fields' readers.
- *Fitnam, J. C. Practice in courts of review

- that substantially follow the Colorado procedure. Chic., E. B. Myers & Co., 1893. c. 408 p. 8°, shp., $5.
- Franklin, B. Life of Benjamin Franklin, written by himself; ed. from original mss. and from printed correspondence and other writings by J. Bigelow. 3d ed., rev. and corr. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. 3 v., 8°, cl., $4.50.
- Giberne, Agnes. Sun, moon and stars: astronomy for beginners; with a preface by Rev. C. Pritchard. New rev. ed. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1893.] 2-334 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.
A thoroughly new and revised edition, bringing the volume up to date, in line with the new discoveries and new ideas in astronomy.
- Ganville, Austyn. The fallen race; with an introd. by Opie Read. Chic., F. T. Neely, [1893.] c. '92. 352 p. D. (Neely's lib. of choice literature, v. 1, no. 15.) cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c.
Dr. Paul Gifford, who accompanied an exploring expedition to the very centre of the Australian Continent in 1874, became detached from his party, and after many hardships and adventures found himself in the midst of the fabled Fallen Race, the Anonos of Australia, who appeared like huge balls, covered with hair and with small paws and legs, and were nearer animals than human beings. The Great White Queen who ruled over them is a reminiscence of Haggard's "She." The whole story is a vivid effort of the imagination.
- Greg, Percy. Greg's history of the United States. Richmond, Va., West, Johnston & Co., 1892-3. 800 p. 8°, cl., $2.50; full shp., $3.50; mor., $4.
- Hall, W. S. Mensuration. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1893. c. 6+62 p. D. (Mathematical ser.) cl., 55 c.
Designed for the course in lower mathematics of schools and colleges. An elementary knowledge of geometry and trigonometry is taken for granted.
- Hawes, E., D.D. Ungranted requests. Phil., American S. S. Union, [1893.] c. '92. 2-16 p. D. leatherette, 10 c.
A devout and thoughtful consideration of the question which perplexes many, "Why has not God answered my prayer?"
- Heywood, Eliz. The grocer's boy; or, the young American who did not want to be extraordinary. [New ed.] N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1893. 4-192 p. il. D. cl., 50 c.

"The real thing," the opening story, relates with delicate humor the perplexities of an artist who accepts as models two elderly society people whose penniless condition drives them to this method of gaining a living. The second story "Sir Dominick Ferrand," is based upon a package of papers found in an old dav-
- enport bought at second-hand by a literary man; its mystery is cleverly managed. The other stories are: "Nona Vincent," "The chaperon" and "Greville Fane." They are all of London life, touching slightly its artistic and literary side.

Aside from the excellent little work of Mr. W. H. Bennett there is no comprehensive treatment upon the subject. The chapter upon "Operative methods" comprises in substance a paper presented to the Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association and published in its Transactions for 1890."—Preface.
- Lysaght, Sidney Royse. The marplot. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. c. 4+425 p. D. (Macmillan's dollar novel ser.) cl., $1.
"Connie," a pretty but ignorant little girl whom Dick Malory first notices in the ring of a travelling circus, is the "marplot" not only of his life but of the lives of others. Connie runs away from the circus and leads a chequered life in London, singing and dancing in cheap concert halls, and joining her life finally with that of a poor socialist, with whom she lives without the marriage ceremony. Dick meets her again in London, and without knowing to what depths she has sunk marries her to reform her. Dick Malory and his friends are the best types of young English men and women; the scenes are mostly from English country life.

McKim, Rev. Randolph Harrison. Christ and modern unbelief. N. Y., T. Whittaker, 1893. c. 7+146 p. D. cl., $1.

The arguments offered in these seven sermons by the rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Washington, D. C., give in small compass and popular language "sufficient reasons to any candid inquirer for accepting Jesus of Nazareth as the Son of God and the Saviour of the world."

Mann, Rev. Cameron. The comments at the cross: six Lent sermons. N. Y., T. Whittaker, [1893.] c. 5+121 p. D. cl., net, 60 c.

By the rector of Grace Church, Kansas City, Mo. The sermons take for text the sayings of those who watched Christ during the crucifixion, and are called "The comment of indifference," "The comment of hatred," "The comment of despair," "The comment of faith," "The comment of superstition" and "The comment of thought." In the appendix is a sermon on "The comment of love."

The hero of the first and longest story is a wild young Irishman named Terence Fitzgerald, who inherits a lonely neglected place in Ireland, with a proviso attached to it that the heir makes it his home for four consecutive months of each year. Wrostell Castle possesses a ghost with its many other gruesome peculiarities, and is anything but a cheerful home for Terry's bright young French bride, whom he brings there for the honeymoon. Jealousy and ennui bring about a strange succession of circumstances in which the young couple figure.

The translator in his introduction says: "Prof. Meitzen's work represents a full statement of theoretical statistics in a small compass. The work covers systematically the whole field of statistical theory. Statistics, as defined by the author, is a method of scientific investigation by means of enumeration of objects and the numerical comparison of the results of such enumeration. They may be applied to any field of knowledge if the necessary conditions present." Two parts, entitled "History of Statistics" and "Theory and Technique of Statistics," heretofore bound separately in paper, are now offered in one volume at a reduced price.

Parton, Ja. General Jackson. N. Y., Appleton, 1893. 332 p. por. D. (Great commanders ser., no. 3.) cl., $1.50.

The last literary work of James Parton was the preparation of this brief biography of General Jackson. It was completed in August, 1891, two months before his death. It is the successor of many valuable American biographies that we have had from his pen, all popular in character, unconventional and impartial in judgment. Although less ambitious in scope than some of Mr. Parton's previous volumes, it presents a fair estimate of its subject, and is singularly free from what Macaulay calls "the disease of admiration." The editor calls it "a model miniature biography, possessing throughout all the interest of a romance."

Pool, Maria Louise. Katharine North: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. '92. 4+312 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Another New England character study, in line with "Roweny in Boston" and "Mrs. Keats Bradford." Katharine North is an inexperienced country girl who is persuaded by her strong-minded mother to become the fourth wife of Deacon Grove. She runs away from her husband directly after the marriage ceremony, and with another girl goes to "South Shore," a summer resort on Massachusetts Bay, and becomes a waiter in a restaurant. Here she first meets her aunt, a lecturer on woman's wrongs, who strongly influences her life. Her father furnishes the tragic element of the story, in a sudden attempt he makes to rid his unhappy daughter of her uncongenial husband.

- The author is principal of New College, Edinburgh. This exposition of Paul's Epistle to the Philippians is rich in human interest, as the Apostle's teaching repeatedly touches on the question, "How the problem of practical human life on this earth is to be conceived and dealt with under the light and the influences of Christianity?"
- Read, Opie P. ["Arkansaw traveller," pseud.] Miss Madam, and other sketches. Chic., F. T. Neely, [1893.] 4-318 p. D. (Neely's lib. of choice literature, v. 2, no. 3.) cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c.
- Twenty-nine short stories about the west and southwest, by the author of "A Kentucky colonel."
- Rives, Amélie, [now Mrs. J. Armstrong Chanler.] Athelwold. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. 5+118 p. il. S. cl., $1.25.
- The play has its scene laid in Anglo-Saxon England, some time during the ninth century. The leading characters are Edgar, King of England, Athelwold, Thane of Edgar, Oswald, a priest, and Elfreda, daughter of the Earl of Devonshire. Elfreda, loved both by the King and Athelwold, is the motive for a thrilling tragedy. The author shows exquisite powers of description and characterization. Finely printed on wide margined linen paper.
- Roberts, R. D. The earth's history: an introduction to modern geology. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1893. 20+270 p. maps, il. D. (University extension manuals.) cl., $1.50.
- A sketch of the methods and chief results of geological inquiry such as a reader interested in the subject for its own sake would desire to obtain. The work is not intended to be a text-book of geology, nor is it designed with a view to the requirements of any examination. Much of the material had been used in courses of university extension lectures, by Prof. Roberts, who is university lecturer on geology in the University of Cambridge.
- Saltus, Edgar. Madam Sapphira: a Fifth Avenue story. Chic., F. T. Neely, [1893.] c. 5-251 p. D. (Neely's lib. of choice literature, v. 2, no. 6.) cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c.
- The duplicity of a Fifth Avenue wife towards her husband, easily earns for her the title of "Madam Sapphira" bestowed upon her by the author. Fond of life and pleasure, and tiring of her husband, she cleverly conceals and executes a heartless and unprincipled plot against him to obtain a divorce. Contemporary society life in New York City gives the setting to the story.
- Sarcey, Francisque. Recollections of middle life; [from the French,] by Elizabeth Luther Cary. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1893. c. 12+307 p. por. D. cl., $1.50.
- Mr. E. Cary gives in an introduction a brief sketch of Sarcey's career. Francisque Sarcey has been for more than thirty years teacher, journalist, dramatic critic, novelist and lecturer, an eager and fortunate member of that society in Paris which embraces men of letters, artists and the extremely varied class of men of genius. Aside from his own interesting personality, which finds many illustrations, his book sheds new light on some phases of French life not often easily studied. This volume may be considered a sequel to Souvenirs de Jeunesse published in 1885.
- Savage, Minot J. The evolution of Christianity. Bost., G. H. Ellis, 1892 [1893.] c. '92. 4-178 p. D. cl., $1.
- Twelve discourses, namely: Old world religion; Judaism and its hopes; Conditions when Christianity was born; Jesus and what he attempted; The influence of the Christ idea; The first church and Paul; The problem of the Trinity; The church of Rome; Growth away from Jesus; The Protestant resolution; Science and the church; Free Christianity.
- Schubin, Ossip, [pseud. for Lola Kirschner.] A leafless spring; after the German, by Mary J. Safford. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1893. c. 295 p. D. cl., $1.25.
- A young Englishman reduced to living on £300 a year considers himself ruined. He goes to Paris to study painting as a means of living. He meets a beautiful Italian model who behaves mysteriously and mars his life. He marries a sedate, respectable, rich English cousin and on his wedding tour again meets his fate. The end is sensational and tragic. The descriptions of English women and middle-class conventionality show keen observation and humor.
- Scott, Sir Walter. Waverley novels. [New Dryburgh ed.] In 25 v. V. 4, The black dwarf. [Also] A legend of Montrose. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 26+377 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.
- Sergeant, Adeline. Christine: a novel. N. Y., Tait, Sons & Co., [1893.] c. '92. 2-325 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.
- Colonel Lingard, an English military man holding a high command in Egypt, had long been estranged from his brother's widow and children; desiring a reconciliation he invites his niece Christine to come out and spend the winter with him. He has a plan to marry her to a handsome young soldier, a favorite protégé, but death carries him off very suddenly a few days before her arrival. The complications arising out of this proposed alliance, and the loss of Christine's inheritance, for a claimant appears who says he is the colonel's son, furnish ample material for a good story.
- Smith, Albert W. Constructive materials of engineering. Palo Alto, Cal., Palo Alto Press, Leland Stanford Junior University, 1892 [1893.] c. '92. 4+82 p. D. pap., 80 c.
- "This work is the outgrowth of lectures before the students in mechanical engineering at Cornell University, the University of Wisconsin and Leland Stanford Junior University. The object is to give the student a start toward that understanding which shall enable him to select materials best adapted for machine parts subjected to different working conditions. Effort has been made to omit all unessential details, and to treat of underlying principles only. Bibliography appended (2 p.)."—Preface.

- Tamura, Naomi. The Japanese bride. N. Y., Harper, 1893. 6+92 p. il. T. (Harper's black and white ser.) cl., 50 c.
- Japanese home life is frankly pictured in a series of chapters entitled: "Why do we marry?" "Courtship," "The go-between," "Preparation for the wedding," "The honeymoon," "Bride and bridegroom at home," "Mother and grandmother." The sketches are not quite so rose-colored as those we received from Sir Edwin Arnold.

Originally published by C: Scribner's Sons, 1885. See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., Oct. 17, '85, [716.] The present edition contains thirty additional pages containing a new line of facts which further investigation in the same general field revealed to the writer.

United States Army. Infantry drill regulations, adopted Oct. 3, 1891. [Special ed.] N. Y., Army and Navy Journal, 1893. c. '91. 353+44 p. Tt. pap., 50 c.

This edition of the new infantry drill regulations, published by the Army and Navy Journal differs from others in having an appendix of forty-four pages giving the interpretations to many questions in the new drill. These interpretations were made by Lieut. J: T. French, Jr., 4th U. S. Art., recorder of the board which prepared the new drill.

Upham, Arthur A. Fifty lessons in wood-working. N. Y., E. L. Kellogg & Co., 1892 [1893.] c. '92. 99 p. il. S. cl., 50 c.

Outlines a short course in manual training such as is possible in a school for both boys and girls of fourteen years of age or upwards. Forty-five minutes a day are to be devoted to the work.

Vincent, J: H., (Bp.) In search of his grave: an Easter study. Meadville, Pa., Flood & Vincent, [The Chautauqua Century Press,] 1893. c. 32 p. il. S. pap., 30 c.

The exact site of Jesus Christ's suffering and death and the place of his interment, are lost to the historian, although there are many theories on the subject. This little monograph deals with these various views, and gives interesting descriptions of several visits made by Bishop Vincent to Jerusalem at different times since 1863.

Warfield, B: B., D.D. The canon of the New Testament: how and when formed. Phil., American S. S. Union, [1893.] c. '92. 12 p. D. leatherette, 10 c.

Dr. Warfield's statement of the way our New Testament books came to be regarded as the word of God is clear and definite; it was written for the average Sunday-school worker.

Wells, J: D., D.D. The pastor in the sick-room: three lectures delivered at Princeton Theological Seminary, March, 1892. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1893.] c. 4-128 p. S. cl., 50 c.

The writer's conclusions are that the so-called Salem "witches" did use an apparently supernatural power over their victims—and it was what we know to-day as hypnotism. Mr. Wendell is the author of two novels, "Duchess Emilia" and "Runkell's remains."

Wilcox, Mrs. Ella Wheeler. Was it suicide? Chic., F. T. Neely, 1892 [1893.] c. '92. 6-164 p. D. (Neely's popular lib., v. 1, no. 10.) cl., $1; pap., 25 c.

"Was it suicide?" which illustrates through a love-tale why marriage is sometimes a failure, is the opening tale only of a collection which includes "Dave's wife," "An angel's whisper," "The old man's Christmas," etc.

Wilkins, Miss Mary E. Giles Corey, Yeoman: a play. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. 2+108 p. il. T. (Harper's black and white ser.) cl., 50 c.

A play founded on the persecution of the Salem witches in 1692. In the conversation of about a dozen characters Miss Wilkins sets vividly before her readers the superstitions and the high religious feeling of the old days she describes. A quaint love-story brightens the gloom. A young child learning to be a witch furnishes an element of ghastly humor.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 18, 1893.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BOOKSELLERS' EXAMINATIONS AND SCHOOLS.

WE are at last in a position to satisfy the curiosity of a number of our readers by placing before them the series of questions propounded by the council of the London Booksellers' Society at their examinations last fall.

For the Preliminary Examinations for assistants under 21 years of age eight candidates presented themselves, one young lady being among the number. Fourteen candidates offered themselves for the Advanced Examinations. The time for the Preliminary Examination was from 7:15 P.M. to 9 o'clock, and everything passed off to the satisfaction of the examiners, who were D. B. Friend, David Stott, J. Ellis and J. Shaylor.

In deciding the value of the answers given the examiners placed a pro rata value on each question, making a total of 160 for the sixteen examination questions; taking this as a basis they found the number of marks gained by the lowest candidate to be 35 and the highest 94.

As the marks obtained were so few they considered that the money prizes should be withheld but that a certificate of merit be given to two candidates.

In summing up the results of the examination the examiners do not think they were so satisfactory as might have been anticipated; in many papers a great want of power was shown in grasping some of the questions laid before the candidates, a lack was also displayed in manipulating figures, and a general deficiency in the knowledge of trade terms. Should the examinations be continued they think more publicity should be given to them; this might stimulate the candidates to work up their knowledge in matters connected with literature and the bookselling trade, and would in all probability lead to results more satisfactory both to the examiners and to the examined.

The questions were as follows:

PRELIMINARY.

- 1.—Give the names of 12 living novelists, and mention two works by each author, with the publishers and prices.
- 2.—If you were asked to recommend a good dictionary and a good cookery-book, whose would you mention?
- 3.—Give the net cost of books offered 13/12, at sale less 5 per cent., and selling at 1/-, 2/6, 3/6.
- 4.—What is the difference in profit on books bought 13/12 and 25/24 beyond those bought without any odd copy?
- 5.—Write out the names of the authors of the following works: "Robinson Crusoe," "Little Arthur's History of England," "Don Quixote," "Gulliver's Travels," "Gil Blas," "Sandford and Merton," "Peep of Day," "Paul and Virginia."
- 6.—Give the names of the authors and publishers of the following: "Four Winds Farm," "In the Days of Thy Youth," "Handley Cross," "Yeast," "Wealth of Nations," "Rise of Dutch Republic," "Christian Year," "Pleasures of Life."
- 7.—Name one work of each of the following authors: Andrew Lang, A. Trollope, W. Black, F. Max Müller, Mrs. E. Marshall, John Milton, George Eliot, W. Besant, G. R. Sims, W. M. Thackeray, Q. E. Burke, T. De Quincey, C. Kingsley, E. J. Worboise.
- 8.—Distinguish between: "None done up" and "Binding," "Reprinting" and "Out of print at present," "None in town" and "Not kept in town."
- 9.—Fill in the scrip and sale of the following retail prices: 2/6, 3/6, 4/6, 6/6, 8/6, 10/-, 15/-, 16/-, 20/-, 21/-, 25/-, 32/-.
- 10.—Give the names of 12 living and 12 dead poets, and mention the principal poem of each.
- 11.—Give the equivalents of the following terms: "Beatitudes," "Pentateuch," "Decalogue," "Canticles," "Apocalypse," "Septuagint."
- 12.—Make out cash invoice for the following at sale, less 5 per cent.: 2 at 5/-, 7/6½ at 3/6, 2 at 2/6, 4 at 4/-, 2 at 10/6.
- 13.—Describe some different styles of binding.
- 14.—Give titles, prices and publishers of twenty standard biographies.
- 15.—Give real names of the following pen-names: Autocrat of the Breakfast Table, Lewis Carroll, Thomas Ingoldsby, Sam Slick, Uncle Remus, Author of John Halifax, Owen Meredith, "Boz," Michael A. Titmarsh, Christopher North, A. K. H. B., Ouida, M. E. Braddon, G. A. S.

- 16.—Quote title of work and author in which the following are introduced as characters: Becky Sharp, Sam Weller, Ursula March, Sairey Gamp, Jeannie Deans, Dinah Morris.
- 17.—Quote various styles of types in order of size from smallest to largest.
- 18.—Give author, title, publisher and price of three each students' text-books on geology, physiology, botany.

The Advanced Examination was more satisfactory, though it fell far short of the expectations of the council. The examiners placed a pro rata value upon each question, making a total of 160 for the fourteen examination questions. Taking this as a basis, the number of marks gained by the lowest candidate was 22 and the highest 89. A very fair knowledge was shown of the technicalities of the trade, and an intelligent comprehension of the questions. Certificates of merit were awarded to four of the candidates and prizes of £1 each were given to the two highest candidates.

The following were the questions proposed:

ADVANCED.

- 1.—Give titles, prices, and publishers of principal works of: Freeman, Professor; Froude, J. A.; Scott, Sir W.; Smiles, S.; Spencer, H.; Carlyle, T.; Arnold (Matthew); Max Müller, F.; Darwin, C.; Farrar (Archdeacon); Church, A. J.; Lang, Andrew; Fenn, G. M.
- 2.—Give the authors, titles, and publishers of twelve leading works in both theology and science.
- 3.—Write a business reply to the following inquiry: "Have you in stock any works on evolution, or can you give me any information as to who are the best authorities on this subject, with the titles and prices of their works?"
- 4.—Write out an invoice for the following books at sale, less 2½ per cent., and show sorting: 13/12 "Hurst & Blackett's 5/- Series," 2 "Light of the World," Arnold, 4 "Lang's Letters on Literature," 1 "Dictionary National Biography," Vol. 15, 4 Dickens, at 4/-, 5 Dickens, at 3/6, 4 Dickens, at 3/-.
- 5.—Give the titles of 12 books which may be considered English classics.
- 6.—Give the names of 12 living and 12 dead poets, mention their principal poems, with anything characteristic concerning the poet.
- 7.—Give the names of the authors and publishers of the following works: "Areopagitica," "Faerie Queen," "Queen Mab," "Ecclesiastical Polity," "Yellow Plush Papers," "Evelina," "Pamela," "Piers the Ploughman," "Joseph Andrews," "Headlong Hall."
- 8.—Give the principal technical terms used in the trade, and distinguish between: "None done up" and "Binding," "Reprinting" and "Out of print at present," "None in town" and "Not kept in town."
- 9.—Mention the names of 12 of the principal authors in France, and give the title of one of their translated works.
- 10.—Give the titles of 10 of the most suitable books for an assistant to read, to help him towards proficiency in his business.
- 11.—Give the names of 20 well-known authors of America, and give the titles of some of their works.

- 12.—Give the net cost of each copy of books offered 13/12 at sale, less 5 per cent., selling at 5/-, 7/6, 10/6.

- 13.—Give the names of 12 living novelists, and 12 deceased, and mention two works by each author, with their price and publisher.

- 14.—Mention the authors, titles, prices, and publishers of 12 histories of England, or periods of English history, and give their leading tendencies.

Although the number of candidates presenting themselves for examination was disappointingly small, 150 letters received since show that some interest was taken in the examination. Many of these letters come from clerks who had neither the time nor money required for a trip to London for examination. When these examinations come to be more clearly understood there can be no doubt that their great advantages will be realized. There is still much doubt in the minds of those who should be interested as to the true aim and object of the Booksellers' Society. It does not guarantee positions to applicants, but offers them facilities to acquire the general and technical knowledge that will make their work more valuable to their employers and in the end make them more sought after and better paid.

Leipzig has a thriving Booksellers' Institute, or school, that was founded in 1852 by George Friedrich Fleischer. His daughter, who died in 1891, willed the school a fund of 50,000 marks, which is known as the George Friedrich Fleischer endowment, the interest of which goes to the institute. The students of this school must all be in the employ of Leipzig booksellers, and that their regular duties may not be interfered with the hours of instruction are from 6 to 8 A.M. during the summer and from 7 to 9 A.M. during the winter months. The discipline is strict. Students must appear every working-day in the year and are only excused upon presentation of a written excuse signed by their employers. The fees for instruction only amount to 30 marks (about $8) a year. This sum is paid in two instalments by the employer. The school is graded into three classes and the studies taken are German, French and English, history of literature, general history, physical and mental and moral sciences, natural history, arithmetic and book-keeping. There is a staff of eight teachers. The institute publishes a biennial report. The average attendance is between 130 and 150. The graduating exercises take place during the spring and the director of the institution always makes an address to the graduating class that dwells upon the duties and responsibilities of the vocation the graduates have chosen and inspires them to look upon their calling as a profession and an art in which their highest talents can be called into use. Manner, good address and other valuable qualities needed in a good salesman may perhaps not be guaranteed in the curriculum of study, but the German bookseller is almost forced to acquire accurate knowledge of his wares, and by a liberal education is taught to test and appreciate and judge of his wares as literature. The inhabitants of the small towns of France and Germany look upon their booksellers as literary guides and friends. These know their customers and know the books that will appeal to them, and bookbuyers very seldom go beyond their own township or county to get the books they read, a system that has great educational and business advantages.

A booksellers' school like this one in Leipsic, modified to suit our American needs, would seem to be within reach of the trade, if its necessity and its advantages were understood and if it were started in the right place by the right people. At first thought it would be difficult to name ever so small a number of booksellers in any locality who are really well-informed enough to be instructors; and where could we find 150 booksellers' apprentices who would sufficiently realize what they were getting to make them get up early and work late at the lessons required in a way that would not interfere with their employers' time! Yet we have enough confidence in the enterprise of the younger members of our trade to assert that if proper opportunity were offered enough applicants and support could be found to make such a school a success. We need only point to the flourishing condition of the library schools, which but a few years ago were looked upon as Quixotic and unpractical. Yet through the enthusiasm and persistency of one individual these institutions have not only grown in importance and value to the library profession but in numbers as well.

It is generally understood that the sale of the books of the hour cannot support a book-store and to sell the classics and books of information on which money is made it is necessary to have a knowledge of their contents as well as of the technical business details of discounts, billing, book-keeping, etc.

Our public is becoming more and more of a reading public, its interests are widening and it needs competent providers of mental food, not to say guidance in its choice. Young men should look upon bookselling as a profession not only as great as that of a doctor, lawyer or clergyman, but really covering all these three and many more if carried on in a spirit conscious of its possibilities! The bookseller is more! According to the editor of the New York Sun, he "is a civilizing force." Are we living up to that ideal? Will the coming generation, without better education than is provided for it now, be able to maintain the standard?

THE BOOK TRADES AT THE COLUMBIAN EXHIBITION.

THE German book trade will be represented at the Columbian Exhibition at Chicago by exhibits from 325 firms, including every publishing house of any importance at all. A feature of their exhibit, which will be held in the "Deutsche Haus," already described in our issue for February 4, will be a representative library for an educated family of ample means. This library will embrace 182 works in 316 volumes, at a total cost of 3000 marks, or about $750. The library is intended besides to present as complete and varied a view as possible of literary activity and development in Germany. Only the best editions will be admitted, and these will be bound in the best style of German bibliopegic art. The library will be in nine groups: (1) collected works; (2) poetry and anthologies; (3) fiction; (4) illustrated works and éditions de luxe; (5) history; (6) travels, geography and natural history; (7) literature, art, music and philosophy; (8) miscellaneous; (9) educational. The exhibit will be made in a specially designed niche of the salon of the Reichs Kommissar.

The French book-trade exhibit has pre-empted a space in the galleries of the Department of Liberal Arts and Manufactures which is 45 metres long and 17 wide, lighted by six large windows overlooking Lake Michigan. Thirty-eight firms are to take part in the exhibition, which is to be held under the auspices of the Cercle de la Librairie, the details of arrangements having been left to the competent planning of M. Emil Terquem.

Compared with Germany and France the English and American book trades will make a less imposing showing. Though the more important firms will no doubt be represented, the exhibits of these countries will, unlike the collective exhibits of the former two, be purely individual, thus detracting from them the one element of interest that attaches to exhibits of this kind. It will later perhaps be found a matter of regret that the book trade, of this country at least, should have been content to let the matter of collective exhibit go by default. Not only should the publishing trade have been represented as a unit, but with it should have been associated the allied book-making trades, in order that the progress in the literary quality as well as the grace and finish externally of our book production during the three decades since our Centennial Exhibition might have been made evident to the world. As this has been neglected, we trust that those who have taken space will make special efforts to have their exhibits as representative as possible.

AN AMERICAN PATERNOSTER ROW.

FIFTH AVENUE below Twenty-third Street in New York is rapidly becoming the American Paternoster Row. Beginning at the lower end we find Macmillan & Co. laying the foundation of a fine building on the avenue just below Thirtieth Street; C. L. Webster & Co., W. B. Harison, Brandus & Co. and the New York offices of Ginn & Co. and Leach, Shewell & Sanborn are in the same neighborhood. Further up, at No. 112, near Sixteenth Street, we find the New York offices and warehouses of Fleming H. Revell Company, who have just removed to that point; at No. 114, the handsome new store of James Pott & Co.; at No. 150, on the corner of Twentieth Street, the handsome building of the Methodist Book Concern with Hunt & Eaton's handsome book-store, and the International Bible Co., and at No. 182, near Twenty-third Street, the publishing house of Anson D. F. Randolph & Co., with its attractive and well-stocked retail department.

On the side streets east of the avenue, running across to Union Square, we find on Tenth Street Wm. Wood & Co., A. C. Armstrong & Son, John Wiley & Son, the University Publishing Co., Lovell, Coryell & Co., the New York office of L. Prang & Co., Maynard, Merrill & Co. and Fords, Howard & Hulbert. On Twelfth Street, Ward, Lock, Bowden & Co. On Fourteenth Street, Thos. Y. Crowell & Co., A. Lovell & Co., J. A. Hill & Co., J. W. Schermerhorn & Co., D. C. Heath & Co. and Isaac Pitman & Son. On Sixteenth Street, Longmans, Green & Co., the United States Book Co. and the New York office of the John Church Co. On Seventeenth Street, The Century Company, Thomas Nelson & Sons, Tait, Sons & Co., Brentano's (who will be at the corner of Sixteenth Street and Union Square, West, in a couple of weeks), Breitkopf & Härtel, Novello, Ewer & Co., the New York office of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., the Catholic Publication Society Co. and Richmond & Croscup. On Eighteenth Street, McLoughlin Brothers. On Nineteenth Street, Dodd, Mead & Co. On Twenty-first Street, Fowler & Wells Co., M. L. Holbrook and George M. Allen & Co. On Twenty-second Street, the Reformed Church Board, and on Twenty-third Street, west of the avenue, Geo. P. Putnam's Sons, Henry Holt & Co., E. P. Dutton & Co., Fred. A. Stokes Co., G. W. Dillingham, Wm. J. Kelly, Town Topics Publishing Co. and E. S. Werner. Several other houses are now looking for quarters in this circle, and additions to the above list may be expected about the first of May next.

Besides those mentioned are the publishing offices of The Judge, Frank Leslie's, etc., and Mrs. Leslie's own publications, The Forum, North American Review, Town Topics, Truth and The Cosmopolitan. On Union Square, West, or one block from Fifth Avenue, are the publishing offices and retail stores of Wm. A. Pond & Co., G. Schirmer, R. A. Saalfeld and Edward Schubert & Co., publishers and importers of music. Art is represented by Charles Klackner, George M. Allen Co., Jellineck & Jacobson, Geo. F. Kelly & Co. and Radtke, Lauckner & Co.

COMMUNICATIONS.

WARNING TO NEW YORK BOOKSELLERS.
To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: As I am one of your oldest subscribers I suppose you will give this short communication a place in your columns, but do not, I beg, let any one know who writes it, as I would not like to advertise myself as an innocent who may be caught twice in the same trap.

The first time he called—some ten or twelve years ago—he was Mr. Tuttle, an engraver. He was then a good-looking, well-dressed young gentleman of the Y. M. C. A. variety. It was about shutting-up time and too late for him to get into some place where, of course, he could get any amount of money, and he wanted a small loan to enable him to get home—some place up the river; and I took pride in loaning him sixty cents, the amount he named as necessary to promptly restore him to perhaps an anxious mammy. I have not yet forgotten how he looked then, but when he called a few weeks ago I failed to recognize him. Time, which had not brought me wisdom, had dealt not severely with him. He was still fairly well dressed and presented the appearance of a well-kept, middle-aged man of business. I had put out the lights and put on my overcoat and hat and was just leaving my place of business to catch a train home when he called and introduced himself as Mr. Pinner, of the Photogravure Co. He said he had been to Brooklyn, had spent all his change and been detained, and as it was too late to get into his place of business, wanted seventy-five cents to get home to New Brunswick. I was in too much of a hurry to give the matter much thought, but made bold to inquire why he came to me. He said because he was an engraver and I a bookseller, and seemed to think he had the same kind of claim on me that a doctor has on an undertaker. I loaned him the money, but a minute later would have sold my claim on Pinner for two cents, and thrown in as a chromo my old claim on Tuttle. As I walked along towards home I thought of my friends Tuttle and Pinner for a while in parallel columns until their duality faded away, and I could see clearly that they were one and the same. Verily New York is the paradise of thieves. This fellow has been working the same racket for at least ten years, and is now going over his ground a second time. Look out for him.

BOOKSELLER.

NAME OF AUTHOR WANTED.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Feb. 27, 1893.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: When THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY was the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular, years ago, I was much interested in the letters of "G. S.," which appeared regularly in the Gazette under the title "Our Continental Correspondence." I frequently reread these numbers and should like to know the full name of "G. S." Can you give it to me through your columns? Very truly yours,

WM. VAN SITTERT.

[We regret that we cannot give the desired information. Mr. G. W. Childs, who edited the American Literary Gazette during the time that "G. S." furnished the continental correspondence, also confesses that, as he has been so long out of business, the name has entirely escaped his memory. Possibly some of our older readers may remember the name.—ED. P. W.]

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE REV. DR. ANDREW P. PEABODY, for thirty-five years connected with the faculty of Harvard College, died in Boston, March 10, aged 82 years. He was the author of "Lectures on Christian Doctrine" (1844), "Sermons of Consolation" (1847), "Conversation: its faults and its graces" (1856), "Christianity the Religion of Nature" (1864), "Sermons for Children" (1866), "Reminiscences of European Travel" (1868), etc. He was a contributor to the Whig Review from 1837 to 1859, was editor of the North American Review from 1852 to 1861, and contributed frequently to religious and educational journals and magazines.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

HENRY IRVING's elder son is occupied in writing a life of Judge Jeffreys, the "Wicked Judge."

MISS EMILY LAWLESS, the author of "Grania," so the London Bookman learns, is very seriously ill and may not be able to work again.

LORD RONALD GOWER is about to publish a monograph on Joan of Arc to be accompanied by ten etchings of places and buildings associated with her life.

A SPECIALLY interesting chapter in the life of the late Lord Tennyson, upon which the Hon. Hallam Tennyson is now engaged, will be contributed by Mr. Frederick Locker-Lampson, the author of "London Lyrics." Mr. Locker-Lampson's daughter (now Mrs. Augustine Birrell) was formerly the wife of the Hon. Lionel Tennyson. Mr. Locker-Lampson's contribution to the life of Lord Tennyson will consist chiefly of personal reminiscences.

In a note to the New York Sun Henry George denies the current report that he will fill a consulship or other office under the new national administration. During the year Mr. George will write a general work on political economy, wherein his views of capital and wages, of land-ownership and taxation, will be developed in their bearings upon the other elements of economy. Mr. George's last book, "A Perplexed Philosopher," in which he severely castigated Mr. Herbert Spencer, is already in its second edition. Although favorably received by the public, the critics take exception to the style of this book as lacking the calm dignity which hitherto has characterized its author.

DAVID A. WELLS is engaged upon his well-planned work on taxation, one-third of which is now written. The chapters will probably appear serially in the Popular Science Monthly before being issued in book form. Serial publication, however, will not begin until the whole work is out of its author's hands. Mr. Wells intends to make his presentation thoroughly popular, and the discussion of theory will be introduced by an interesting historical sketch, and by noteworthy examples of taxation good and bad. His experience and success in the reform of national taxation and his life-long study of fiscal questions give him the foremost place among American authorities on taxation. His work will appeal to the constantly widening circle of readers who desire that public burdens shall be just, and who therefore wish to understand the principles of equity in taxation.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ANNISTON, ALA.—Wm. H. Zinn has sold his stock of books and stationery to Samuel Seaton.

BOSTON, MASS.—Charles F. Gould, of New York, was appointed on the 15th inst. temporary ancillary receiver of the property of the United States Book Company situated in Massachusetts by Justice Knowlton in the Superior Court. The court will hear parties on next Tuesday on the matter of making Mr. Gould's appointment a permanent one. It is reported here that John W. Lovell is making arrangements to re-establish himself in the publishing business, and that he has the plates of 100 books to start with.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—George A. Hall & Co., booksellers and stationers, have sold out.

MADISONVILLE, KY.—L. R. Woolfolk, bookseller and stationer, is selling out.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—William Keye, bookseller, is dead.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS.—H. T. Hutchinson & Co., the well-known booksellers, have issued a souvenir of the opening of their new store at 198-200 Union St., presenting views of the three stores occupied by them since they began business. The first view shows their modest "Cheapside Book-Store" on Cheapside now Pleasant St., occupied by them from 1864 to 1875. The second shows S. Hutchinson's Book and Stationery Store at 142 (now 194) Union St. The third introduces us to their handsome new quarters opened February 7, 1893. The new store, judging from the photogravure illustration, seems to be of metropolitan proportions, and will no doubt become a favorite resort of New Bedford book-lovers.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Critic Co.'s sign was hung up, on March 4, above the third-story windows of the Scribner Building, 743-745 Broadway. The offices of The Critic now occupy the suite of rooms formerly occupied by The Magazine of American History, and still earlier by the art department of The Century. Scribner's Magazine and The Book Buyer are published in the same building; and the offices of McClure's Magazine also are there.

OXFORD, N. Y.—J. B. Galpin, bookseller and stationer and proprietor of the Times, is dead.

OMAHA, NEB.—C. G. H. Kastman, who for the past few months has been managing the Antiquarian Book Shop, at 207 Washington Ave., S., Minneapolis, Minn., has just opened Rayner's "Old Book" Store, at 615 N. 16th St. This makes No. 4 by that name, which seems to be destined to belong to the "old-book trade." Mr. Kastman desires to receive catalogues, circulars, etc., of new books and bargains in all branches of literature.

ORANGE, TEX.—G. W. Curtis is a new dealer in books and stationery here.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The Dodge & Brown Company, 41 State Street, announce that they have increased their capital stock from $15,000 to $20,000 for the purpose of adding a commercial stationery department. They have purchased the stock and good-will of Isaac A. Wilcox & Co. Mr. Geo. A. Newman, formerly with Scrantom, Wetmore & Co., will take charge of this department.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—The trustees of the Mercantile Library Association have elected H. R. Coleman to fill the vacant position of librarian, taking effect on the 15th of February. Mr. Coleman has been identified with the book trade of San Francisco since 1867, nineteen years of which time he was with the Bancrofts. He was a member of the firm of Coleman & Gruninger, and later was associated with Johnson & Emigh. He has for years been considered as a painstaking bookseller, devoting much energy and enthusiasm to his profession, and his experience peculiarly fits him for his new position.

WEST POINT, GA.—M. Herzberg, bookseller, is advertising to sell his stock.

WICHITA FALLS, TEX.—The stock of books belonging to J. M. Howeth has been attached.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish the "Study of Ernest Renan," by Sir M. E. Grant Duff.

THE REV. W. P. DREW, who lately has been a canvasser for Dodd, Mead & Co., was arrested on the 10th charged by Henry Granfield, manager of their subscription department, with forgery. He was held for trial.

BLACKWOOD'S have in press a translation into English of Scheffel's epic poem, "Der Trompeter von Säkkingen." It is to be entitled "The Trumpeter: a romance of the Rhine." The original has lately reached its two hundredth edition in Germany.

REPORT has reached New York that J. A. McQuillan, of George Routledge & Sons, had been struck down with paralysis in Salt Lake City. There is hope that the attack was not serious enough to cause alarm for his recovery. Mrs. McQuillan proceeded at once to the West to nurse her husband.

JOHN GLENN, of Marcus Ward & Co., arrived in this city from Europe on the 1st inst. As soon as he crossed the gang-plank he complained of a severe headache. On his arrival home he went to bed, and when physicians were summoned they found him suffering from congestion of the brain. Though at one time his condition was so serious that the doctors were unable to hold out hopes of recovery, he is now considered out of danger.

W. B. HARISON offers the trade an original little device called a "pocket revolving planisphere," designed particularly for the convenience and guidance of amateur star-gazers or of those possessing an elementary knowledge of astronomy. It is so arranged that the principal stars visible from lat. 40° N. are shown for every hour in the year by means of a movable disc, which is "set" so that the day of the month will correspond with the hour at which the stars are viewed.

THE new building of E. L. Kellogg & Co., publishers of the The School Journal, just completed at No. 61 East Ninth St., is in many respects an ideal one for a publishing house. It has twenty-six feet front and ninety-two feet depth, is substantially built of stone, brick and terra-cotta, and is six stories high. The front of the basement and first story is Indiana limestone of a light-gray buff tone; above this Perth Amboy mottled brick and terra-cotta of a rich brown color is used. The main offices are on the second floor. The store occupies a room sixty feet long. The editorial rooms are on the third floor of the building in front. The subscription department is on the fifth floor, while the printing department occupies the front half of the sixth floor.

THE NEW YORK NEWSDEALERS AND STATIONERS' PROTECTIVE AND BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION held their second anniversary in the association's rooms, No. 267 West Thirty-fourth Street, on the evening of the 15th. There was a large number of members present, who were called to order shortly after 9 o'clock by the chairman, J. P. Mack. After a few words from him he introduced Joseph Brennan, the president of the association, who spoke of the hopeful outlook of the New York branch. C. B. Swift, president of the Philadelphia and of the National Association, told of the great progress the newsdealers and stationers were making throughout the country. Then followed readings, songs, monologues and stories by C. Hemsbriet, W. P. Maher, T. A. Ledwith, Frederick D. Crozier and J. M. Karlshoven.

AN important heraldic work upon which Mr. W. H. St. John Hope, assistant secretary to the Society of Antiquaries, has for some years been engaged is to be published by Messrs. W. Griggs & Sons, London. It consists of a series of chromo-lithographic reproductions of the stall-plates of the Knights of the Garter, affixed to the back of their stalls in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, in accordance with the statutes of the order. Executed on plates of copper, engraved with the arms of the Knights and enriched with gold, silver and enamels of various tinctures, these plates form a singularly rich and beautiful series, illustrative of mediæval heraldry in its decorative aspects. The volume is to reproduce eighty-six of the earliest of them, dating from the Plantagenet period, 1348-1485, and including the forty-five plates set up by Henry V. about 1421 in memory of deceased Knights, of whom no memorial then existed on their stalls. It is proposed to follow up the present volume with a second series, reproducing the plates of the Tudor period, 1485-1603. Mr. Hope furnishes an historical introduction to the book, and descriptive notes on each example.

THE German book trade is taking active measures to protect itself against foreign reprints of its copyrighted matter. As noted a few weeks ago an injunction was obtained against an English bookseller who supplied the Continent with American reprints. Now steps have been taken to bring a Swiss bookseller to trial for supplying the German market with Holman German Family Bibles containing reproductions of the famous Hoffmann gallery of the New Testament. Injunctions have already been issued, and there is every reason to believe that the sale of unauthorized American reprints of copyrighted German books in the countries bound by the Berne treaty will be a thing of the past. The Börsenverein also signifies its intention to take more active measures to protect its members through its agency in this country. Since July, 1892, their agent, Reinhard Volkmann, 15 East Seventeenth Street, New York, has made copyright arrangements for four of Kiepert's atlases issued by Dietrich Reimer, of Berlin; two pieces of music by Mattioli and five songs by Reichmann, issued by Bote & Bock, of Berlin; two etchings by Mannfeld, of Charlottenburg, and the series of sketches by Allers, of Fürst Bismarck in Friedrichsruh, issued by the Union Deutsche Verlagsgesellschaft, of Stuttgart.

CHILDREN OF THE KING.

A TALE OF SOUTHERN ITALY. Second edition. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"The deepest secret of popularity of F. Marion Crawford is that he has always a story to tell. He is a born story-teller, and the born story-teller is sure of listeners from one generation to another to the very end of time. 'Children of the King' is no exception to this. The descriptions of Italian life and scenery, moreover, are of fascinating flavor."—Boston Courier.

STRAIGHT SERMONS

To Young Men and Other Human Beings. By HENRY VAN DYKE, D.D. 12mo, $1.25.

The keynote of this new book is found in the title. It contains ten sermons of singular frankness and force, sweetness and light. They have been tested by practical success in Dr. Van Dyke's work among the colleges. They are addressed not exclusively to young men, but to common humanity.

A Second Book of Verse.

By EUGENE FIELD. 12mo, $1.25.

The characteristics which gave wide popularity to Mr. Field's "Little Book of Western Verse"—his individuality, his sentiment, his humor, his versatility, his melody—make this new volume equally delightful reading.

Abelard,

And the Origin and Early History of Universities. By GABRIEL COMPAYRÉ. Great Educators Series. $1.25, net.

This review of Abelard's character and work is from an entirely new point of view that is most instructive; and the beginnings and early history of the great European universities are graphically pictured.

The History and Theory of Money.

By SIDNEY SHERWOOD, Ph.D., Wharton School of Finance and Economy, University of Pennsylvania. Being a special course of twelve lectures in finance with syllabus and attendant discussions. Delivered under the auspices of the American Society for the Extension of University Teaching and the patronage of the Bankers of Philadelphia, with addresses by Dr. William Pepper, Provost of the University of Pennsylvania; Hon. William L. Trenholm, ex-Comptroller of the Currency; Hon. Edward S. Lacey, Comptroller of the Currency; Mr. Joseph Wharton, founder of the Wharton School; Professor Edmund J. James, Ph.D., Wharton School, and President of the American Society for the Extension of University Teaching; Charles Hermon Thomas, M.D., Chairman Association Local Centre; and an introduction by William H. Rhawn, Chairman of Committee of Bankers. 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

But Men Must Work

Is the latest issue in Lippincott's Series. By ROSA NOUCHETTE CAREY, author of "Mary St. John," "Not Like Other Girls," etc. "It is a story that deals with strong and realistic glimpses of life," says the Boston Herald. "Miss Carey is no mean romancer, and whatever she says has a dash of color and a vigorous style about it that almost immediately catch the eye of the reader. Her descriptions are finished in every detail. Tragedy, intrigue and self-willfulness are important factors in her little drama, which deals with life in a quiet and yet sensational way. The characters do not figure prominently in social life, but they have their own personal history, which is far more entertaining. It has the touch and finish of an artist, and is replete with those side ventures which hold the attention while the heavy acting is under way." 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.
